

New Mayor Calls Green Building Policy “Forward Thinking”

Los Angeles Mayor Antonio Villaraigosa, a former East Los Angeles College student, addressed the Los Angeles Community Colleges’ Board of Trustees before he administered the oath of office to Trustees Kelly Candaele and Michael Waxman. Assemblyman Paul Koretz swore in Trustee Nancy Pearlman.

“The Los Angeles Community Colleges’ green building program has led the way for campuses and communities throughout the state to follow suit and to build sustainably,” said Mayor Villaraigosa. “I look forward to working with the Los Angeles Community Colleges to pursue their higher education goals.”
